What about corn silage that has been snowed upon and frosted? Immature corn may contain a high percentage of water even though the leaves are brown. Never-the-less it needs to be harvested. The brown leaves will help make the silage dryer and reduce seepage losses once it is in the silo.

Frosted, immature corn may ensile quite well, but the grain content of the silage is usually lower than corn allowed to mature before frost. This lower grain content can be expected to lower the feed value of the silage in most cases.

It is even more important to have a forage analysis of this kind of silage to determine the amount of supplementation needed.

* * *

Sorghum silage brings in a different concern-the possible build-up of prussic acid. Once sorghum goes through the ensilling process there is a practically no danger from prussic acid or once it is made into cured hay. There is always high risk attached when frosted sorghum or new growth sorghum is grazed or fed as green-chop.

We have no testing procedure to offer that may help determine the safety of this forage. Use care-safety first.

* * *

We've had a better year to stockpile fescue for winter feeding. Those that applied nitrogen last August should have enough forage grown from an acre of fescue to provide a beef cow with four months of winter grazing.

We need three cooperators that will be grazing fescue this winter to participate in a forage evaluation study.

Basically this involves selecting three different soil types, three different management systems and collecting grass samples the first week of each month, November through April. If you would like to participate in this study, give us a call.

* * *

The Virginia Tech College of Agriculture is attempting to secure opportunities for College of Agriculture students (male or female) to work brief periods (one or more academic quarters or summertime) to gain on-hand farm experiences or experiences in an agricultural industry or business.

This employment is not a part of the college's regular cooperative educational program, and academic credit is not earned.

If there are interested farmers or businesses, we would be glad to assist if needed.

* * *

There is evidence of a nematode build-up in some soybean fields. If you suspect this problem, samples should be collected immediately following harvest.

* * *

Don't forget the November 1 deadline for using pour-on treatment for grub control in cattle. It takes only a few minutes, but pays dividends down the winter months.

* * *

Many of the grub materials help reduce the population, but don't count on this for the long run. Korlan 2 will no longer be available as a pour-on for lice control, the manufacturer has discontinued production.

Products for lice control include Lysoff, Spottom and Dursban has a new label that includes lice.

Mrs. Ferrell Presented Program At U.D.C. Meeting

The Appomattox Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy met on October 18th at 7:30 p.m. at the Appomattox County Library with the president, Mrs. Hazel Lee Martin presiding.

Mrs. Martin read the ritual and Mrs. Thelma Martin read the Confederate Prayer.

Pledges to the United States Flag was led by Mrs. Lucille Ferrell.

Salutes to the Virginia Flag were led by Mrs. Frances Harvey, and salutes to the Confederate Flag led by Mrs. Louise Plunkett.

During the business session Mrs. Martin gave a report on the Division Convention that she, Louise Plunkett and Harriett Cunningham attended at Hampton, Virginia on October 2 - 4th.

Mrs. Harriett Cunningham reported on the display of exhibits at Farmer's National Bank on Main Street which was held on Railroad Day, Oct. 13 and 14th.

This was a display of exhibits by Harold Wyatt of Appomattox, a Civil War buff, who is a member of Comapny D of the 11th Virginia Regiment.

Mr. Wyatt's exhibits consisted of battlefield dug relics from the Appomattox area and non battlefield items, such as leather gear and uniforms, also Confederate buttons, Union buckles, military shells, bayonets, original Confederate Officers letters and original Yankee private letters. Also Major G. H. Chandler's uniform.

For the bank window display a tableau of the Surrender at Appomattox, recreated by Mrs. Tilden Lee, displayed General Robert E. Lee and General Lee's Staff, seated at a table in the manner of the Guillaume painting portraying the Generals as they agreed to terms of surrender on April 9, 1865 in the parlor of Wilmer McLean's home, now a part of Appomattox Court House Historical Park.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Paul Reed, who died one year ago today, October 21, 1978.

Your gentle face and patient smile
With sadness we recall.
We loved you then,
We love you now.
You are not forgotten
Nor will you ever be,
As days goes by
We will remember thee.

Sadly missed by
Mom, Dad, Sisters & Brothers

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Paul Reed who passed away one year ago, October 21, 1978.

You are not forgotten loved one.
Nor will you ever be.
As long as life's memories last
I will remember you.
Softly the stars are gleaming
Upon a silent grave.
Where rests a precious one
I loved but could not save.
They say time heals all sorrow
And helps one to forget.
But time so far only proves
How much I miss you yet.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC OF PROPOSED EXPERIMENTAL TARIFF OF CONTINENTAL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF VIRGINIA

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that Continental Telphone Company of Virginia has filed experimental rates with the State Corporation Commission proposing to establish Circle Calling Service. This proposed service option will offer discounted direct distance dial calling. The charge for each message will be less than the normal toll charge. This plan will replace TelePlan routes for new customers. The proposed date of effectiveness of these rates is December 18, 1979.

A hearing regarding these rates will be held before the State Corporation Commission on November 14, 1979, at 10:00 a.m., in the Commission's Courtroom, the Thirteenth Floor of the Blanton Building, Bank and Governor Streets, Richmond, Virginia.

All material filed by the Company may be reviewed in the Clerk's Office of the Commission and at any Business Office of the Company where bills may be paid.

On or before November 7, 1979, all persons who expect to participate at the public hearing as a party Protestant, to offer evidence and to cross examine witnesses, must file a Protest in conformity with the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, and, at the same time, serve a copy on the Company.

All interested persons who desire to make a statement concerning the proposed Circle Calling Service, and not participate as a party Protestant, may appear in the Commission's Courtroom at 10:00 a.m. on November 14, 1979, or mail the statement to William C. Young, Clerk, State Corporation Commission, Blanton Building, P.O. Box 1197, Richmond, Virginia 23209. 10-25-2tc
